B. Theater update - Jamie Bott, submitted in writing

“Andrew [Schneider] has been out with Covid since January 8. He will still be unable to come today (and possibly tomorrow) because he again has a high fever and doesn’t feel well. I have been working with Kara Degenhardt (music and pit director) to keep things moving the best I can. It’s been a privilege to work closely with the kids. The kids worked super hard last week, and we are in a good spot for the start of tech week. We removed Friday’s performance in favor of another dress rehearsal, which is definitely called for as Andrew won’t be there today, Tuesday, as anticipated. We are down one cast member with Covid as well. We are just hoping and praying and crossing fingers that we will make it to the weekend without any other sick kids. The kids have absolutely put their hearts and souls into this show, and they’ve been working on it since September. They really deserve a show - if we make it to the weekend, please mask up and join us!”

C. Band Parents - Ruth Wilson

- 1. Concerts with 7-12 grades last week [January 13, 2022] went very well; first concerts since February 2020
- 2. New equipment purchases to cover items owned by the GR Youth Symphony which had been rehearsing in the space until recently

X. Adjourned at 7:42

Respectfully submitted by Ruth E. Wilson - draft
